

„SOS homini” - What is it about?

„SOS homini” is a system which enables communication between people who are not independent and those who help them (volunteers). The base of the system is an app called „SOS homini” available for both smartphones and tablets. The app consists of simple graphics and short text messages.

Dependent person - Every person who isn't able to perform certain every day actions on its own.

Volunteers - Every person who is willing to come to help dependent person in some of every day actions.
